

Medical transportation services include conveyance services provided, directly or through voucher, to a client so that he or she may access health care services.

All Ryan White Program definitions are taken directly from HRSA.